

Virtual Classroom

Virtual Classroom is a 3rd party integration in Brightspace. The Firefox browser works best with Bongo, the Virtual Classroom site used by Brightspace. The Chrome browser is second best. (Brightspace does not have much to say about other browsers...) It's not really the computer that matters so much, but that the computer runs the latest version of Firefox. Please update Firefox and Chrome if you have not done that in a while. Here is a link with directions to update your browser:

<https://www.computerhope.com/issues/ch001388.htm>

For the audio issues, we need to say "Yes", when asked at the beginning to give permission to access the audio and video on our computer. Students need to do the same. We get this question as we are trying to enter the Bongo Virtual Classroom. Before you try to enter, make sure you can hear a random video clip or music on your computer. Put your volume on medium or medium high and make sure your speakers are on, if they are separate.

If you get feedback, headphones help eliminate that issue. Also keeping headphones separate from the speaker.

Another important tip is to record a meeting, especially if something is going wrong. Brightspace support can look at the recording later and give helpful feedback on what went wrong.

The Brightspace phone number is 1-877-325-7778. The Chat is also good for simple questions. Students would probably prefer the Chat feature since they do not typically like talking on the phone.

When you call or chat, they ask for the school name and the course you are calling about. Students may need to supply their student ID number.

They will also provide a reference number for the reason you called. If you contact them again it helps to provide the reference number because you don't have to provide all the other information again.

Here is a great resource for information about Virtual Classroom:

<https://bongolearn.zendesk.com/hc/en-us/categories/360000374534-Virtual-Classroom>